Sentiment of Officials Is Against the New Measure

Whether or not the section of the state motor vehicle law which will eliminate speed traps and will, therefore, take from the motor officers their stop watches, that is scheduled to go into effect September 1, will be enforced in Glendale remains with the city council. Members of the Glendale council have stated, unofficially, that speed traps will not be eliminated and that the handling of traffic violators will continue as at present.

Judge Lowe, Glendale city corder, stated this morning that in his opinion the section in question is unconstitutional and that if challenged will not be upheld by the courts. He claims that eliminating of the traps would un-doubtedly result in an avalanche of accidents.

"There is a nigger in that sec-tion somewhere," said Judge Lowe, "but it has not yet been smoked out. I have not yet seen an official copy of the proposed bill, but I have been reliably informed that the section relating to stop watches and traps was inserted just two or three days before the close of the legislature, and too late for any negative action to be taken on it."

The motor vehicle bill is now on the press, according to Mr. Tow-man, manager of the Glendale branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, who stated that it is expected to be out by August 1. The auto club has come out squarely in favor of doing away with the speed traps. City Manager Reeves of Glen-dale stated this morning that he is

Unless the city council acts officially in this matter the section in question of the proposed motor vehicle law will go into effect in Glendale on September 1. To interrupt its action the council must justruct the city manager to disregard the section and the city anager in turn must instruct the chief of police to disregard the section in question.

An effort has been made by Judge Lowe to have the operation of this law made inactive by a referendum petition. He has sent letters to the city managers various cities of Southern Califor nia in connection with this idea but the responses received are to the effect that there is doubt if this could be put over.

"Regarding the law prohibiting "Regarding the law prohibiting speed traps," writes City Manager Koiner of Pasadena, "it is doubtful whether you could bring to bear the referendum on this."

There is a difference between presenting a petition and Clerks to Sort Mail pressing suit. These Christians prayed through. The promise of God is not to the act, but the habit of prayer.

The night before the intended murder of Peter, the record tells us he slept between two soldiers, bound in chains. He was the only Christian in the city who could sleep. Herod himself didn't rest Peter knew all was well with his soul, and whether by life or by death, he would glorify God. What a compliment Herod paid Peter by putting him under such heavy guard. The devil is always paying compliments like that to Christianity while he is trying to destroy it. One of the best proofs of the gospel is the number of volumes written every year in the effort to destroy the faith. Why so much time and talent in the effort to destroy Christianity if there is nothing to it?

for Peter's execution an angel appeared to Peter, causing his chains to fall off and the doors of the prison to open to him. God often delays the answer of prayer until the eve of our extremity. Peter Johnny will become a business was a better man for having been man without any regrets at having brought close to the hour and then lost the title, although, as he says delivered. The angel led Peter through the great iron gate and then left him to himself. Note the economy of miraculous power. Perhaps they looked for a deliverance less spectacular, but expect his release in some form, they certainly did.

> The climax of the whole story is in the account of Herod's death. We read that he was eaten of worms and died. Ill fated worms worms and died. Ill fated worms that had to each such stuff. In the beginning of the chapter, Herod was the big thing, but look at his end. The atheist and infidel may be in the popular swim today, but read on to the end and get his dying words. Herod sets his soldiers on one Christian, then tiny worms lugged him off to the cemetery. "But the word of God grew and multiplied." With these striking words the chapter closes striking words the chapter closes. Learn from this that God directs all events in the best interests of His people and the spread of the LONDON, July 16.—A "flying mail train" is the latest type of airplane to be developed in England. In the plane's mail-chamber, says the Daily Chronicle's aeronautical expert, sorters will be able to carry a railway mail train. It will have a radius of 2,000 miles and will be able to stay in the air 24 hours without alighting. The crew in charge will be provided with regular sleeping quarters on board. They will, in fact, work in shifts while in the air, some of them sleeping while others are on duty in the control-chamber.

If necessary, when flying at night or immersed in fog or cloud, the crew will be able to bring into play mechanisms which will endow the craft with the power of automatic self-balance. chine will virtually fly itself, and all the helmsman will have to do will be to keep it on a compass course by means of the rudder.

BECAUSE-

We Handle Selected Seconds

WHAT IS A SECOND?

A SECOND in plumbing fixtures is a fixture that is not 100 per cent perfect. It may be caused by a slight roll in the casting, which you would not notice—it may be a half inch off in one of its standard dimensions—it may be a slight corrosion of the enamel in one small space—it may be an enamel blister on the shoulder or outside of a tub. None of these so-called "damages" affect the serviceability or comfort of the fixture. In most cases they do not affect the appearance. In nine cases out of ten, the thing that makes the SECOND is merely a variation from some standard specification. LET US SHOW YOU THE SO-CALLED FLAWS. WE DO NOT HANDLE A SINGLE FIXTURE THAT WILL NOT LIVE AS LONG AS A FIRST. SEE FOR YOURSELF.

WE INSTALL

We have already built up an enviable reputation for the FIRSTS we have installed in many homes in Glendale.

We will also install your SECONDS, if you wish, with the same care and attention we show on all jobs.

We want your complete satisfaction—for Glendale is a growing city, you are growing with it—you will want more fixtures and so will your friends. As permanent property holders, here to stay, WE GIVE SATISFACTION AND CALL A SPADE A SPADE.

There ARE substitutes for the VERY GOOD that for all practical purposes are JUST AS GOOD. Well selected SECONDS of plumbing fixtures can seldom be distinguished, except by experts, from FIRSTS. We are frank to say that we sell SECONDS AS SECONDS, as well as FIRSTS AS FIRSTS. We say they will give you appearance and service and durability. Read our definition of a SECOND.

SEE FOR YOURSELF

Our display of SECONDS in plumbing fixtures is open for your inspection. You can pick your own tubs, toilets or sinks in our shop. You know exactly what you are getting. We will tell you the reason why that particular fixture IS a SECOND, and where you save money.

OUR SAVINGS YOURS ALSO

We are not ashamed to sell SECONDS, because we know them to be good. We select from the manufacturer's stock the SECONDS we KNOW are RIGHT. In that way we save money, and we pass the SAVINGS TO YOU. WE SELL FOR CASH, and keep our goods moving.

In justice to yourself and the principle of economy in a year when building costs and plumbing costs are high, you should investigate the legitimate savings you can make—and we are here to serve you frankly and honestly. See for yourself.

TWO GREAT CITIES

In Los Angeles and San Francisco, the state of of the disgraceful exhibition? California has two great cities. The commonwealth is large enough and rich enough to be entitled to both. It gives them all the resources they need to draw upon. There is no real reason for the slightest feeling of unfriendliness between them. Each has points in which it excels. Each is a complement of the other. That which one may lack the other has never would amount to anything. Some of them clung to this idea until the census of 1920 opened their eyes. Then they realized that conditions had changed. The former pueblo had become the larger city. Its growth since then has been even more rapid. Once a tourist resort and citrus center, but little else, it has become notable for manufacturing, the home of many important industries, the site of a great harbor. Large enterprises flourish, capital is ready for investment. It is significant that part of this capital is supplied by San Franciscans, who thus directly share the benefits of southern expansion. But all the time San Francisco, too, has been growing. The fame it acquired while still it was indisputably the social, commercial and financial leader of the Pacific coast, it still retains. It was a real city, a place of metropolitan atmosphere and habit before half its is to be hoped that the governor will in future do so, even if he has to use troops.

Los Angeles has in many respects forged ahead. his has not been due to any fault on the part of San Francisco, but has been the result of circumstances. There were certain economic and climatic conditions in this end of the state that made wide appeal. The result has been an unprecedented growth. It was not reasonable to suppose that San Francisco could forever remain the one California city of importance and dignified size. The wiser people both cities understand this. They are not un-niendly. On the other hand they have formed a sort of partnership, and are working together for the advance of the state.

WAR A CRIME

War, in a military sense, often is denounced as a crime. Industrial war if not similarly classed, would have to be rated as stupidity; which often is as bad opposition had rights, and that conservation of these rights could do no harm, there would be no industrial warfare. One form of crime would vanish.

There are many men, some of them in public life, who earnestly desire some adjustment in consonance with the spirit of the Golden Rule. They are halmpered by the reluctance of others to yield to the demands for simple justice. On each side there are those who do not want any adjustment. There are capitalists desirous of ruling. There are, across the line, agitators whose inspiration is hate, and not a reaching after justice at all. To offset these is only the common sense and the decent instinct of the people in general.

A great outcry arises against a lopsided prosperity that yields little or nothing to the average individual, and yet leaves him acutely aware that elsewhere profits are being piled up against all reason or necessity. Analysis of the outcry reveals the fact that much of it comes from irresponsible and often not even respectable sources. Yet beneath the froth of agitation there is the current of a strong belief begins to make quest for remedy, there is a habit on that while industrial war is wicked or the result of part of the fatly content to term him a radical. stupidity, the causes that produce it will have to be

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

The constitution which in a general way is highly respected in this country is in the English language. It has been much assailed of late, largely by residents unable to speak the language in question. There is scant reason for believing that the earnest persons making the attacks have a clear conception of what they are talking about. When an alien rants his hatred of all things American, and strives to stir up turmoil, the remedy in each case should be simple and soon applied. Were it to consist of taking the alien by the scruff of the neck and tossing him lightly across the Atlantic, it would be deemed fair and proper.

The present row kicked up by a class of undesirables, who really have no right to be in this country. calls attention again to the imperfections of the immigration laws. How do these ornery critters get through? There is a demand on the part of manufacturers, particularly of steel products, for cheap labor. Were they to get the cheap labor in abundance, nobody thinks for a moment that the price of the product would be reduced. On the contrary, the extra profits probably would appear in the form of dividends and disappear in the form of non-taxable bonds. So this particular phase of discussion lacks importance.

What immigration laws are for is to keep out the hordes of ignorance and turbulence, letting the honest, the industrious, and the potentially useful citizen get by. In this respect the immigration laws seem to have failed of accomplishing their purpose. Hence the populous soapbox and the use of dynamite as an argument.

Some correspondent says that $450,000,000 may be spent on Gatun lock, an important feature of the Panama canal. It is very easy for a correspondent to talk in large figures concerning money that does

The Panama canal, lock and all, cost far less than the sum mentioned. The canal has been performing a very useful service. If the service is to be extended, requiring a new lock, perhaps it would be cheaper to build another canal, permitting Panama to take care of the small fry of commerce, and the big bottoms to use the new passage.

Eddie Boyden of the San Francisco Chronicle, and Harry Carr of the Los Angeles Times have been writing parallel columns concerning the two cities, each taking the city in which he does not live.

The results so far have been lamentable. It is to be regretted that two newspaper men of ability should have perpetrated such piffle. A boy of eleven years has confessed that he broke a switchlock on the Northern Pacific. The ensuing wreck resulted in four deaths, and much property damage. What should be done with such a boy? Here is a question for a Solomon.

Many morons are at large. It is not often that they are betrayed by an overt act, for generally they amble along on their level of stubidity, attracting small notice. Once this boy would have been considered vicious and a fool. Now he is a moron, and

The children in the small towns and villages have a better chance to get this experience than the city dwellers. There is usually a big tree in the yard and the children can build a shelter near it with just a little help.

The tent that has all sides tied down to the pegs can scarcely

His shop is well arranged, but I would hesitate to call it a model shop. He does lots of little things for his men, but so do other manufacturers and they have strikes. Old Man Huntington never has one. Out in the yard is a stone pillar on which is a bronze plate bearing some such inscription as this:

Whatever "meddling" there is—to use an expression used by protesting English newspapers—is on the part of the liquor-carrying visitors, not on ours. They are meddling with American law. The federal government is merely enforcing that law.

Huntington never nas one. Out in the yellow is a bronze plate bearing some such inscription as this:

"We shall build good work here. At a profit if we can. At a loss if we must. But the work shall always be good."

The workmen erected that. Not Old Man Huntington. But they put it up because those words are always on the Old Man's lips. A scamped job would hurt him—hurt him physically. He takes a real pride in being able to say that a Huntington job is the best job that human hands can turn out.

That's why his men stay with him. They, too, have a pride in their work. They are as proud of their work as Huntington is. It is a fine thing to dare to be proud.

MAN OF SORROWS IS REV. EDMONDS' SUNDAY TOPIC

At the Glendale Presbyterian hurch yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Ermonds, spoke on The Man of Sorrows," and chose Isaiah 53:3 as the text. Eighty Isaiah 53:3 as the text. Eighty temptations in the wilderness. He times in the gospels the title "Son is our guide at the same time. By of Man" is applied to the Christ by Himself. It is a glorious name and full of hope for the human family, and is equivalent to having relationship with all men. Every man can find a response in His nature. God had had one Son without sin out never one without sorrow. Next to a Saviour man needs a comforter. Christ has come not only to bear our burdens but also Redeemer, who purchased and won wipe our tears away. There is only one brow this crown of thorns will fit. His sorwas multiplied and grief was His familiar acquaintance. His was the sorrow of loneliness. He was in the midst of men, yet quite alone. He was a perpetual strang-er in this world. His own bretehren, the religious leaders of His day, His own disciples failed to appreciate His teachings.

O, men and women, no man ever suffered such shame as came upon our blessed Lord. He was made a curse for sin. He who knew no sin was made sin for use. Alone He stood before Pilate. Alone He stood before Herod with none to protest. They mocked Him. They spat in His face. They crowned Him with thorns. He carried His cross alone. It is well that we often look upon Him in His loneliness and shame.

His was the sorrow of unrequiet d love. The great sin against thrist is that His love and sacriice are never recognized. He is despised and rejected of men. This is His sorrow. He has been at the door of your heart and you hid as it were your faces from Him.

His was a vicarious sorrow. Sin was responsible for all His suffer-ing and sorrow. Had there been no sin He would never have known sadness or suffering, never felt pain or shed a tear. Why did this Christ man suffer? Why did He have sorrow? He was the world's only sinless one, yet the world's greatest sufferer. "He saved others, Himself He cannot save." Surely he hath borne my grief and carried my sorrows. He was bruised for my iniquities. He was wounded for my transgressions.

'When I survey the wondrous cross On which the Prince of Glory died, My richest gain I count but loss, And pour contempt on all my

WHERE IS THE SEARCHLIGHT IN GLENDALE?

Where is the searchlight? That question was on the lips of veryone who chanced to motor along the bculevards anywhere between the mountains and the sea last night.

Where was the searchlight? Who knows? Was it in Glendale? It certainly seemed to be, for every time the stream of light from the Mount

LOSSES STIRS ALL

[By Associated Press] LONDON, July 16 .- Spain is fac ng a grave crisis over the Moroc can situation, says a Reuter dispatch from Madrid. The problem appears every day to be farther from a solution. The situation is extremely delicate, and the abortive attempts which have made to arrive at a bloodless set tlement have only aggravated it. The Moroccan campaign is unrespondent continues, and the vacil-lating policy which has been the outcome of many recent changes of government has so far produced no definite results. The territory lost in 1921 has never been entirely reconquered and the civil protect torate which was declared last February exists in little more than name, inasmuch as the Riff leader, Abdelkrim, is still in possession of a large portion of the zone and has been able to make his own terms with the Spanish in regard to the release of prisoners.

The government's policy was to reorganize the army and make a determined bid for the conquest of the zone, but the recurring demands in the press for the cessation of nostilities and the punishment of those responsible for former defeats forced it, for a time, to abandon the idea of further aggressive action. The army was, however, reorganized and newly equipped with tanks, aeroplanes and other modern instruments of war.

Following the appointment of a new civil governor of Morocco, friendly Moorish chief, Dris Er Riffi, was in April appointed native governor of the Riff province. But Abdelkrim was still in undisputed authority over half of the province, and the government decided withdraw a large number of the troops. This decision was never translated into action and, in spite of protests from the press, the Spanish troops continued to occupy advanced positions at considerable risk of attack. On May 31 a Spanish convoy was attacked by a large body of the enemy and sustained nearly 200 casualties.

It has for long been felt, the correspondent concludes, that the Moroccan problem ought to be settled without further bloodshed, and the news of this disaster cannot but give further impetus to the demand for a cessation of hostilfties, and that without delay.

[By Associated Press] WASHINGTON, July 16 .- The United States is becoming an in-creasingly heavier user of electricity, but despite the mounting power totals, the consumption of fuel to produce it is decreasing in proportion. Geological survey fig ures show that the consumption of coal for that purpose in 1922 was only 2.5 pounds a kilowatt hour, as compared with 3.2 pounds in 1919.

A total of 47,659,000,000 kilowatt hours was generated last year. Of this amount 36.1 per cent was generated by water power. New York leads the list of states in produc tion, manufacturing 15.57 per cent of the total for the country. Other states in order are Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Massachusetts and West Virginia.

LOOK FOR ACRES NEAR GLENDALE

Former City Manager T. W. Watson, Tells of San Fernando Road

While strides in Glendale's growth are noticeable in every angle of development, perhaps the most notable is her industrial expansion, with San Fernando road thrusting itself into the limelight as one of the most preferable locations in Southern California for manufacturing establishments.

Glendale offers all of the neces sary attributes for industrial growth. Shipping possibilities, either by truck or by rail, are such that the greatest bulk of trade may readily be handled. San Fernando road is the highway from the valley and from Glendale, to the sea, via Los Angeles and Los Argeles harbor. Industrial sites in Los Angeles are comparatively scarce, and some districts near the factories are unsuited for healthful living for employes.

On the other hand, industries have almost as convenient an outlet for their products from the San Fernando road district in Glendale, with the added advantage of healthfulness for employes. San Fernando road is but a continuation of the newer industrial district of Los Angeles, and for this reason is already recognized as the logical frontage for manufacturing houses. In fact, San Fernando road has for years carried such a bulk of traffic that the City Planning Commission of Los Angeles has found it imperative to develop plans for Riverside drive, which will skirtthe Los Angeles river and serve to relieve some of the traffic that would ordinarily find its course along San Fernando road.

At a glance, this project can be seen as a distinct advantage in the further developing of the industrial section of Glendale. It will be readily seen that the territory between San Fernando road and Riverside drive is in a position to realize a wonderful period of development, which will mean the establishment of many more factories and industrial institutions and the eventual opening of connecting ways between San Fernando road and Riverside drive, with the building of bridges and the widening of such thoroughfares as now exist.

"While the project of extending West Broadway is yet in its infancy," to quote T. W. Watson, who owns 40 acres abutting on San Fernando road in the vicinity of Broadway, "it is fortunate that this property is in the hands of those who appreciate the value of this district and will be interested

The little girl with pretty clothes. The little boy with stone bruised toes, The maid upon her way to school, The lad beside the fishing pool, The child of trouble and with care, The world of childhood everywhere, Take to thy heart, the lass and lad, And love them well and make them glad.

Yes, love them well, for they are thine. The children are, and they are mine, And theirs are hearts for you to bless, And theirs the right to happiness. And theirs are spirits to lift high, And theirs are tears for you to dry, To Him thou doest what will please If thou wilt love the least of these.

So love them all, where they may be, For all of them belong to thee, To help, to love, to soothe, to bless, To bring them hope and happiness. To bring a smile to some sad face, To make the world a better place For them to live—this be the aim Of every man who's worth the name.

There remains about 1000 feet between the westerly line geles river, which belongs to the city of Los Angeles. In the due course of time, according to the rapidity of development, it is inevitable that Broadway will connect with Riverside drive, and per haps extend further west, as the occasion and necessity arises. Mr. Watson spoke of a San Francisco manufacturing concern which has been figuring on San Fernando road property.

"This company employs 200 people, and would call for two acres. If the full development of these forty acres would mean 100 people to the acre, one can readily see what an addition to the population of Glendale the locating of a few factories will mean," stated Mr. Watson.

KENNETH ROAD

Dr. Alonzo E. Mack of Omaha to Settle in Glendale

Another beautiful home is being built on Kenneth road just beyond the Toll residence for Dr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Mack, who are now liv ing at 814 South Maryland.

For a number of years they had been coming to California for vacations and finally the allure of the country became so strong that last September they left their home in Omaha, Neb., where they had lived for 26 years and came to the Golden state to remain per-manently. Of course they established headquarters in Los Angeles while they toured the city and environs trying to determine where their home would be. A ride along Kenneth road decided them beyond question of a doubt and they are eagerly looking forward to home they are to have there which will be made as beautiful as the situation demands.

The house will be of the English type with composition thatched roof with rolled edge and stucco exterior. It will be of one story divided into seven large rooms. It is on the north side of the thoroughfare and will therefore face the valley. The interior will be artistic and the home will have cost in the neighborhood of $16,000 when ready for occupancy. It was designed by the artist Donald Mc-
